april 1952

Doctor Roger Manvell, idol of serious students of the English screen, will lecture on "Style in British Feature Films" at The Cleveland Museum of Art, Wednesday, April 16 at 8.00 p.m. illustrating with work of David Lean, Carol Reed, Michael Powell and Laurence Olivier. He is Director of The British Film Academy, equivalent to our Academy of Motion Picture Art. His book, "Film" published in The British Pelican Series has sold over 300,000 copies.